HPV vaccination for Grade IV Female Learners

1. One of the programs initiated by the Department of Health, in partnership with Department of Education, is the Human Papilloma Virus (HPV) vaccination of Grade IV female learners as these learners become sexually active as early as 9-10 years old. Being sexually active by that age exposes the female learners and increases the chance to develop cervical cancer which can be prevented by HPV vaccination.
2. In this connection, attached is a list of schedule of HPV vaccination of Grade IV female learners in our identified schools. Clinic teachers, class advisers and nurse-in-charge of the school are advised to coordinate with City Health Office Chief Nurse, Ms. Alnelyn Madras.
3. For your information, guidance and compliance.
